Bruce Hill

This article is about the student conference I attended Friday, March 8 and Sunday, March 9 at Brock University in St. Catharines. Students from all over Ontario came to discuss problems common to themselves - student housing, financing of post-secondary institutions and student grants and loans. The bus ride from Sudbury to Toronto for me was very symbolic - the road was bumpy and the bus rattled and jarred its way along and I feel much like the bus ride - so too the post-secondary students in this province have a long difficult journey to embark on before their goals will be achieved. Human change has quite often in the past begun with a journey - the freedom rides during the civil rights campaign in the Southern United States, the Poor People's March on Washington and the Anti-Vietnam demonstrations held around the world have all started with the physical movement of humans. At McGill University in 1973, I watched the occupation of the Arts building by students and the more progressive faculty members such as Marlene Dixon from the Sociology department over the administration's inability to provide our institution with adequate day care facilities. University administrators have not been responsive to the demands of students - the recent Senate meetings over the residence increases at Laurentian University are only one of many examples.

The Brock conference was interesting in that it was student run and students themselves worked together - volunteered of their time to make the conference a success. Even the serving and preparation of conference meals were totally student run. Of course we had support from the National Union of Students and the Ontario Federation of Students. Labour representatives from the Ontario Federation of Labour, from the Canadian Union of Public Employees and from the United Electrical Workers spoke at the conference and called for the abolition of university fees. They also stated that every citizen of Ontario should have access to education as far as his/her ability regardless of his/her financial means. Education is a human right not a privilege.

Northern Ontario was very poorly represented at the conference - Bruce Kanary came from Lakehead University in Thunder Bay and there was myself, and Richard Wilson from Laurentian University. The representative from Thunder Bay flew to Toronto and then continued to Brock University by bus. Of course, the poor weather conditions may have been partly responsible for the poor attendance record of Northern Ontario students.

Of particular interest to Laurentian University was the proposals on bilingualism put forth at the Workshop on Impacts of Education Cutbacks in financing. The following proposals were presented for discussion in the General Assembly -

Recognizing that the encouragement of French language educational institutions at all levels

is essential to the life and future of French speaking Canadians and subsequently to the strength of Canadian Federalism and our national identity, be it recommended that:

- 1) Federal and provincial financing of bilingualism matches their legislative enthusiasm for these programmes.
- 2) More French or second language programs be funded and encouraged in the primary and secondary schools and that bilingual post-secondary institutions in Ontario provide to Francophone students in Ontario the opportunity to acquire a University or College degree entirely in the French language.
- 3) that funds be made available to Post-secondary institutions offering programs in both of Canada's official languages and that the faculty and staff acquire a working knowledge in their second language and that a full range of programs be offered in the second language.

The final resolutions of the conference called for such items as a demonstration at Queen's Park in Toronto and an Ontario media campaign to publicize the cutbacks in post-secondary education funding by the Conservative Davis government. The most important recommendation of the three day conference I feel was -

As a result of the shifting of the economic burden on the backs of the working people, we urge students to build a united front against the Ontario government by organizing at their own campuses, establishing contacts between campuses, and supporting the community organizations and unions in their activities. We further urge the Ontario Federation of Students to carry forth the recommendations of this conference across the province.

Lakehead University in Thunder Bay have already begun a food questionnaire to examine the eating habits of its student population - similar research could well be carried out at our own university. What will be the future of Laurentian University, or indeed the future of all universities across our province? It is this question I leave with you today in the hopes that it might motivate some of you to design research projects around student needs within the Province of Ontario.

UNIVERSITY OF WINDSOR FACULTY OF EDUCATION

WHY COME TO WINDSOR FOR TEACHER TRAINING?

- Windsor prepares all its candidates for the Bachelor of Education degree and the Ontario Teacher's Certificate to teach in both elementary and secondary schools.
- All students have an integrated program of studies with areas of specialization.
- Windsor is a small faculty, permitting personal programming and counselling.
- All Windsor graduates actively seeking positions were successful last year in obtaining jobs across Ontario.

If you have, or qualify for, a baccalaureate by September, 1975, write for additional information and application forms to:

Student representation to be reduced

by Richard Wilson

The power of students in the Senate of Laurentian University will be reduced if the Executive Committee of Senate has its way. In a series of By-Law amendments, it proposes to do away with the category of ex-officio non-voting members of Senate. Those in this category are to be affected in the following way. Three administrators are to be given voting status and the other four are to be removed altogether. Of the four to be removed, two are students (President, S.G.A.;

President, E.S.G.A.) The executive Committee also proposes to add two more faculty as voting members of Senate. The Committee claims that this is part of an exercise to reduce Senate to a more manageable size. It is reduced only by two students. If the committee had any intention of reducing the size of the body it would have started at the number of ex-officio administrators, 17, and reduced there. Or it could have looked at the 21 faculty and subtracted rather than added. The Executive committee of Senate is the only committee on which students are not represented. It has been noted this year for proposing structural changes of large magnitudes but without sufficient thought. The debacle over the existence or non-existence of the Division of Professional Schools arose from their last report.

As to the fairness or unfairness of the student case for more representation on Senate, (rather than less), Laurentian has one of the lowest percentages in the province of student representatives on Senate. At 13% it is below the provincial average of 16% and a long way below many other Universities. For example, the Senate of Trent is 30% students, the Senate of Queen's is 22% and the Senate of Lakehead University is 24%. If these changes go through Laurentian next year will be 12.5%.

Students did not learn of the results of the Executive Committee's deliberations until notice of motion was sent to the members of Senate. One would have thought that in the absence of student membership, the committee would have had at least the courtesy to consult with students before it released its recommendations.

It would not be unreasonable to ask that the committee's report be sent back or that the number of student representatives on Senate be more than doubled. Laurentian maintains some pretense of democracy in its dealings. To maintain that pretense it cannot continue to arrive at decisions which vitally affect the interests of students without consulting them.

Notice of motion to amend the bylaws will be given at the meeting of Senate on March 20th. A special meeting will be called for March 27th to pass the amendments. If you want to stop them, be there.

Residence fees: What next

8% increase misleading

by Harry Sheppard:

It appears that after last week's momentous Senate decision on the residence fees, we are no closer than before to what students living on campus will have to pay next year.

Senate's decision last week was to limit the residence fees increase to 8%. However, T.L. Hennessy, Director of Services, has interpreted that decision to mean an average of 8%. He proposes to increase the price of singles in U.C. by 15%, while all other residence fees would be raised by under 7 1/2 %.

Richard Wilson, a student spokesman for the Residence Committee finds this proposal unacceptable. He feels that no increase should be more than 8%.

Rand Dyck, the original mover of Senate's motion to raise the fees by 8% said that his intention was that no rate be raised by more than 8%.

One factor that complicates the whole residence fee issue is the fast approaching deadline for distribution of Laurentian's Calendar. The fee issue should be decided before the deadline so that residence fees can, if need be, be inserted in already printed calendars.

In a letter Wilson submitted to Hennessy, he indicated that the students on the Residence Committee agreed that: a) no increase be more than 8%, b) the price of a room in Single Student's Residence be equal to a similar room in UC, and c) the students would possibly go along with an increase greater than 8% for the rents of non-students in Married Student's Residence.

If Hennessy's proposal is accepted, singles in UC will increase to $750 from the present $650. Doubles would go up 7.5% to $635. He proposed to increase singles in Single Student's Res to $750, up 7%, and doubles to $645, up 7 1/2%. Married Student's Residence monthly rent would increase by 7.4% to $134.

Wilson also expressed concern for the students living in the church-affiliated colleges. Since these colleges habitually set their prices equal to those of UC, an increase of 15% in UC's single could be repeated in all the other residences.

Editorial comments:

ITS ALL OVER. THE NOMINATIONS THAT IS. IN FACT MORE THAN THAT. THE RACE FOR THE POST OF VICE PRESIDENT OF THE SGA IS ALSO OVER. THE VP FOR THE SGA FOR THE 1975/76 TERM IS GORDON (TED) KIRK. FROM HERE ON IN WE THE STUDENTS OF THIS UNIVERSITY CAN ONLY OFFER HIM ALL THE HELP WE CAN.

ON THE OTHER HAND WHAT IS NOT OVER IS THE PRESIDENTIAL RACE. IN FACT WITH THE CLOSING OF NOMINATIONS LAST FRIDAY AND THE ELECTIONS A WEEK AWAY THE CAMPAIGNS ARE NOW MOVING INTO FULL GEAR.

WERE IT NOT FOR THIS PAPER WE WOULD BE VOTING THIS WEEK INSTEAD OF NEXT WEEK. WITH THE NEW DATES WE BELIEVE THE STUDENTS STAND A CHANCE TO BE BETTER INFORMED ABOUT THE CANDIDATES. WE FELT THAT HAD WE VOTED THIS WEEK, BY THE TIME THE STUDENTS FOUND OUT WHO WAS RUNNING THE ELECTIONS WOULD HAVE BEEN OVER.

AS FOR THE CANDIDATES WE ARE NOT OVERLY IF AT ALL IMPRESSED. THEYRE ARE FOUR OF THEM SEEKING WHAT WE CONSIDER A DIFFICULT JOB, WHICH NONE OF THEM WILL BE PERFECTLY QUALIFIED TO HANDLE AT THE TIME THEY TAKE OFFICE.

IT WILL BE A TIME OF LEARNING FOR WHOEVER GETS ELECTED. AS IT STANDS WHOEVER THAT MAY BE WILL BE IN OUR ESTIMATION THE LESSER OF EVILS INSTEAD OF THE BEST OF THE GOOD.

IF WE EXAMINE THE CANDIDATES WE FIND OURSELVES DISMAIYED THAT RICHARD HOFFMAN IS RUNNING FOR THE POST. HOFFMAN HAS LITTLE IF ANY KNOWLEDGE OF THE WORKINGS OF THE SGA. TRUE THIS HAS NOT STOPPED CANDIDATES BEFORE BUT WE DO NOT FEEL THAT POLITICAL SCIENCES ARE SUFFICIENT CRITERIA FOR RUNNING AN SGA WHOSE FUNCTIONS ARE PRIMARILY ADMINISTRATIVE. HOFFMAN SEEMS TO BE OFFERING US HEAVEN ON EARTH. AT A TIME WHEN THE STUDENTS ARE FACING FINANCIAL HASSLES WITH GOVERNMENTS AND ADMINISTRATIONS, HOFFMAN SEEMS TOO OUT OF TOUCH WITH CAMPUS REALITIES TO OFFER US ANY REAL ALTERNATIVES OR SOLUTIONS.

LIKE HOFFMAN, VIVIAN EASTON SEEMS TO BE OFFERING US MUCH OF THE OLD PIE IN THE SKY PROMISES. WHILE HER PROPOSAL TO CUT BACK SALARIES IS SOUND ONE SHOULD QUESTION WHETHER HER INTEREST IS PURELY IN THE STUDENT INTEREST OR UNSELFISH AS SHE WOULD HAVE US BELIEVE. UNLIKE ANY OF THE OTHER CANDIDATES EASTON PRESENTLY RECEIVES MONETARY STIPENDS WHICH COULD PROBABLY ENABLE HER TO PERFORM THE JOB FOR FREE

WE SHOULD REMEMBER WE GET WHAT WE PAY FOR. ALSO EASTON'S DESERTION OF THE LAMBDA SHIP IN MID STREAM AFTER ALMOST WRECKING IT, DOES NOT EARN HER OUR SUPPORT OR RESPECT. QUITTING WHEN THE GOING GETS ROUGH IS NOT, IN OUR ESTIMATION QUALIFICATION FO LEADERSHIP.

RICHARD WILSON COMES TO US FULL OF QUALIFICATIONS AND ON THAT BASIS ALONE SEEMS TO BE ONE OF THE MOST SUITED FOR THE JOB. BUT QUALIFICATION ALONE WILL NOT GET THE JOB DONE. WILSON WAS FITTED INTO THE PRESENT VICE PRESIDENCY AFTER THE SEAT BECAME VACANT. HE SEEMS TO HAVE ADJUSTED WELL BUT IS STILL GETTING USED TO THE FEEL OF THE JOB, AND SHOWS PROMISE. HOWEVER HE SEEMS TO LACK SOME OF THE SHARPER EDGES NEEDED WHILE SOME OF HIS THOUGHTS AND IDEAS HAVE A FAMILIAR RING, SOUNDING SUSPICIOUSLY LIKE SOUNDS WE HAVE HEARD BEFORE.

SPEAKING OF THINGS WE HAVE HEARD BEFORE, MIKE MCWADE'S PLATFORM ALSO HAS THAT FAMILIAR RING FOR THIS TIME OF THE YEAR. HIS PROMISES SEEM A LITTLE FARFETCHED AND OVERDONE AND MAKES US WARY. MCWADE LIKE WILSON, IS FULL OF EXPERIENCE AND WILL PROBABLY WORK AS HARD. BUT WE HOPE HE CAN SHOW MORE INITIATIVE THAN HE HAS IN THE PAST WHEN IT COMES TO STUDENT ISSUES.

NEVERTHELESS, WE FEEL WE HAVE A CHOISE BETWEEN TWO CANDIDATES: MCWADE AND WILSON. BETWEEN THEM, THEY BOTH PRESENT ALTERNATIVESAND HAVE POTENTIAL. EXAMINE THEIR PLANS AND PRIORITIES AND THEN DECIDE WHICH WAY YOU WANT THE SGA TO GO. THE NEXT STEP IS YOURS.

Brain Drain Brainless

Dear Editor:

As president of the Biology Society I feel that it is my duty to take exception to Dr. Buse's remarks in last week's Brain Drain, in fact I may decide to take exception to Brain Drain in its entirety and I have.

With regard to Dr. Buse's remark to the effect that student organizations do not concern themselves with intellectual activities and do not bring in guest speakers I would like to inform him that the Biology Society has this very thing as an objective in the preamble of their constitution. Guest speakers are part of this and in the preceeding three years we have brought in speakers. Last year they were even announced in Lambda. This year was an exception because I felt that speakers at over $200.00 a shot weren't what the Society needed to get up off its ass.

I object to Brain Drain as a feature because it includes only Arts students. Perhaps, as one of my colleagues suggested, it is because these people have had their brains drained. I find this difficult to believe. I hope that this omission will be rectified in future Brain Drains as I think that Science students have views on these questions too.

How To Defend Yourself

The following is an excerpt from a pamphlet put out by the Toronto Rape Crisis Centre.

RAPE — HOW TO DEFEND YOURSELF

Your body is the most reliable, accessible and best weapon you have. Even without a self-defence course, use it.

Your legs and feet can deliver the best blow and keep distance between you and the attacker.

Go for vulnerable parts of the body such as the bridge of the foot, the shin, the knee, the stomach, the solar plexus, the windpipe and neck, under the ears, the nose, eyes and the temples.

Avoid the groin, a man will be ready to protect himself there.

In our mother's day, hatpins, pepper shakers, whistles, and lemon squirters were kept in the event of attack. These are effective, but - They must be searched for - They can be used against you.

Carry an umbrella for jabbing.

Wear a whistle around your neck on a chain that will break. If you hear a whistle, respond to it! A man is more leery of raping a victim with a witness present.

Stay alert and rely on your intuition. If you sense someone is following you look back and check. Cross the street and walk the other way; run; go to the nearest house. Yell WORDS (help, murder, rape, fire). In a car, keep your hand on the horn.

IF YOU ARE RAPED

Report the offense to the police. The interrogation may not be pleasant, but rape can be stopped only if women support each other and demand their social rights.

If you call the police, don't shower or change clothes. This is important evidence.

Even if you don't call the police, go to the hospital or see a doctor. - You may have venereal disease. - You may be pregnant. - You may be physically hurt.

Find a friend to talk to. Rape is a crime you have the right to feel angry about. Don't carry it alone or feel guilty or ashamed.

Mieto affair Overdone

Dear Editor:

I read J. P. Dugal's article "Student Apathy..." and could not help but wonder just how many of those non-apathetic students he mentions voted in the last S.G.A. elections, or how many took part in the preparation of the Winter Carnival or even participated in it, or how many attended S.G.A. meetings before the Mieto affair in an effort to make a better S.G.A., or how many do in fact give a damn instead of just joining a currently popular movement to make the S.G.A. look like a corrupt bunch of bastards?

Coming from a European background, I find it difficult to understand the Canadian-American destruction syndrome. Vandalism is a form of sport and a measure of one's virility, littering reflects social status, cars and appliances are built to fall apart and apathy, or the lack of it, is measured in terms of the willingness to tear down a student government. The values are all wrong. Only when those students with which Dugal's article is concerned run for office in the S.G.A. or any other student organization on campus will Dugal have a chance of convincing me that apathy is in its death throes.

I feel, that any student who is really concerned should try to run even a small club on campus or at least be involved in its functioning so that they get a more realistic perspective on the difficulties involved in any student organization. Further more, if I were in a position to do so I would vote for them and see how well they fare. The Mieto affair is a farce and has nothing to do with the S.G.A. and is a poor issue with which to try and bring about the downfall of a government which is at the end of its term anyway.

Why Not: Indeed

An editorial from a London women's paper

EDITORIAL Why Not. Indeed: A Time to Weep and a Time to Laugh.

Here's the good news. This year, 1975, is International Women's Year, as declared by the United Nations. That means money, attention, spectacular meetings with other women on a cross-cultural state heretofore undreamed of. It means, as Steinem reports in this month's Ms., that this year will give vital expression to the conviction that feminism is itself a natural and anti-nationalist force. Already dramatic cross-cultural contacts have been made between women in such radically different cultures as the U.S. and the People's Republic, between women delegates from Egypt and from Israel. The issues of peace and food distribution are global indeed, and women will meet over and over again this year to shape in their own hands the problems that men have been deliberating for the ages. With the considerable force of international feminist co-operation, women will articulate precisely what women want and what women need. The prospects are dazzling, hopeful, vibrant.

Yet dismaying facts have already come to light. Irma Kurtz of the New Statesman (December 27, 1974) scathingly explains that International Women's Year might best be regarded as Ladies' Day at the U.N. stag club; as it is being awarded one of the "daintiest budgets that the U.N. has ever thought a year was worth... International Women's Year is said to be getting about one-tenth of that sum (last year's World Population Year) for its pin-money, mad money, hush money." Harsh words, those, but the one-tenth, mean budget doled out to women this year is surpassed only by the stingy and hypocritical employment policies of the male-dominated elite inside the U.N. power structure. At the distinguished Under-Secretary General level, there is one woman among twenty-nine male colleagues; fewer than 20 percent of the U.N. professional staff, which numbers 3,000, are women. Of the 7,000 lowest grade workers, lumped together under the "General Service" category, 80 percent are women. The statistics, as usual, are discouraging and could be cited ad nauseam. When we must point the finger at the U.N. itself, whose charter (article 8) promises that "the United Nations shall place no restrictions on the eligibility of men and women to participate in any capacity and under conditions of equality in its principal and subsidiary organs," the cited statistics numb more devastatingly than usual.

So much for the good and bad news on the international level. In Canada this year, the government offers our women a similarly astonishing bag of absurdities and things to rejoice. On the absurd note, there's the truly incisive, keener-than-a-blade public relations slogan WHY NOT? This pithy maxim, the government, in its infinite wisdom believes, will sweepingly capture the spirit of Women's Year in Canada. Well, don't ya see, like, WHY NOT, ya see, it's like women are a neglected group, right? No equal opportunity, right? So, uh, we're getting across something kinda basic to, uh, employers-you know - the establishment- about alternatives, right? Essential, right? Whadayamean you can't see it there it is plain as your nose why can't you see WHY NOT?

The national situation, though, has become more and more politically interesting in regard to International Women's Year. Women have to date scored at least one major political triumph. The matter of the hiring, firing, and re-hiring of a Ms. Suzanne Findlay is a case in point. Suzanne Findlay, for the past two years, has been the Chairperson of the Women's Program in Canada. When her job description changed from a "chairmanship" to "directorship", Findlay found herself out of a job. Along with one other woman, Marlene MacGregor, and two men, she filed her application for the directorship. MacGregor got the job instead. When the news got out to women's groups in Canada, a clamour of protest went up: Findlay was a feminist, and had achieved, as Carole Aziz puts it, "a degree of respect and credibility" among grassroots women's organizations across the country. Marlene MacGregor, by contrast, is not known to be a feminist, nor had she any of the ties with women that Findlay had painstakingly built up for the past two years. On the 30th of December, a new board heard Findlay's appeal; one hundred supporters were in attendance, an unheard of crowd for Civil Service hearings. Suzanne Findlay now has her job back. She has earned a promotion and a five-thousand dollar raise.

The morning after the night before is never a great time for doing much of anything, especially when the night before the morning after was the fourth annual University College Banquet. However, "The Unicorn" will persevere despite dangling particples and sentence fragments. The monster banquet was an incredible success... amidst cocktails (Killer Punch strikes again,) dinner (I'll trade you two meatballs for your potato salad), speech-making (mercifully held to the minimum), refreshments (I'll have a triple scotch and water, please. Hold the water), and entertainment ("Karvan"), UC students went out in gala style. I would like to salute the U.C.S.C. and everyone else who helped make Friday night the social event of the current season, right from Dennis the mad ticket stamper, to Elizabeth the rose distributor, and the boys in the back room, who wish to remain anonymous, responsible for the punch.

If the grand finale banquet didn't do you in, some of you get another shot at it on Monday, March 24 in the guise of the University College Annual Athletic Banquet. Trophies will be presented by the U.C.S.C. athletic convenors to those who participated actively on winning intramural teams, and the male and female athletes of the year will also be announced. Admission is by invitation only.

On Friday, March 7, nominations closed for executive and representative positions on the U.C.S.C. Since it is rather difficult to lose by acclamation, the 1975-76 Rat Patrol stands with President Sandy Siren (the first female president, and "Why Not?" might I add), English Vice-President Pat Legris, Secretary Lilly Borges, second year representative Pat Patterson, and third year representative Louis Ouellette (that name sounds suspiciously familiar). By-elections will be held in the fall for the positions which are presently vacant.

Well, we're almost under the wire, only a few more issues of this rag left to put out, and the "Unicorn" can go into semi-retirement again.

- 3) Comprehensive PUBLICITY for all SGA events.
- 4) INTEGRATED communication amongst all clubs, schools and colleges.

5) PLANNED social events to satisfy students. Let's have Friday and Saturday night dances again - and let's eliminate the financial losses by providing social events when the majority of our students are free and willing to attend.

6) MONTHLY Rap Sessions between your SGA executive and the LU student body in the Great Hall and Sci. II cafeterias. This provides ample opportunity to have the SGA tell YOU what's happening and for YOU to tell the SGA what you want.

7) Published Course Evaluations results for all students.

8) Increased Student Services:

-1) Troubleshooter Centre - have the SGA provide solutions or refer students to the best people qualified to do so, from simple requests for information to requests for interpretation of university regulations.
-2) Extensive Off-Campus Housing service for single and married students.
-3) On-Campus Radio Station initially plugged into the Phys-Ed Centre, Great Hall and Sci. II Cafeterias. This is another communication tool at the disposal of all LU students.

It is impossible to compress into a few trite phrases all of one's ideas as to what the SGA should be doing or what it could become. Recognizing this and that it is impossible to detail every action one plans to take, I shall outline instead, my general approach.

1) The SGA must strive to achieve a balance among its differing responsibilities. It should not, as it has in the past, ignore one or more areas to concentrate completely on one particular concern, whether this be social activities, campus problems or external affairs.

2) The efficient use of the resources of the SGA, requires that there be clear lines of authority and that there be clear demarcations of responsibilities within the organization.

3) The SGA should be an agency where students can go with their problems, but before this can occur the SGA must build the structures that enable them to be solved. There must be someone charged with co-ordinating the work of student representatives and people to guide and assist him.

4) Provision must be made so that the structures built one year carry on to the next. There must be provision for experience of one year's students to be passed on to future students.

These statements are fairly vague but their intent is merely to outline in this limited space the approach I intend to adopt. I shall be working through standing committees in each of the areas of SGA policy. I have considerable experience in working for student interests, I have shown interest in the SGA in the past and I have a record of some accomplishments.

- more student control in the SGA - $19,000 in salaries is a myth, so is $6,500 for a student president. A $1,000 honorarium is more realistic and in accordance with other Canadian campuses.

- over $11,000 can go back to the students, after all it's theirs and should be spent on them.

- Its time that the SGA was turned back to the students, gotten out of the hands of amateur businessmen and clique groups. We know the type of representation this group has given in the past and will continue to give in the future if not stopped.

- better quality of entertainment - plan to look into student sports; on varsity/intramural levels. Those students who have been involved have had no help from the organization which claims to represent them.

- It's about time that student government stop being "yes" men. - mostly, I'd like to see $19,000 in salaries stopped. We have the highest paid president in Canada with the lowest student enrollment, and the poorest effort in representation and involvement. If elected, over $10,000 in salaries will be channelled back into student affairs and probable paid off the debts incurred by this past council. It's time for honest leadership, not rip-off mismanagement.

RICHARD HOFFMAN

Currently, every full-time student pays $27.00 to the SGA for services. In my opinion, the SGA Council has failed in its function to provide student services.

With this in mind I propose the following:

- 1) a transportation service to and from Plaza 69 for shopping purposes.
- 2) Student lounges in both the Arts and Science buildings.
- 3) Improvement in social events and their co-ordination.
- 4) better liaison with clubs, organizations, and societies.

According to the constitution, "the purpose of the SGALU is to promote the interests of Laurentian University and the welfare of the members of the SGALU both in internal and external affairs."

As well as the above, I feel a re-examination of the constitution of the SGA and better communication with student representatives of Departments, Schools and Colleges is necessary.

TED KIRK

VICE PRESIDENT

BY ACCLAMATION

1. The S.G.A. should represent the students of Laurentian University in dealing with all internal academic bodies. This role combined with a far greater liaison with the student senators would create a well rounded support for the educational aspects of student life at Laurentian.

2. I feel I am quite qualified to fill the position of Vice-President of the S.G.A. due to the fact that I am presently one of the University College representatives on the S.G.A. and as a member of the council, I have spent

2. What previous experience do you have, either in the SGA or in other areas, that could help you fulfill the duties of the position you are seeking?
3. If you should lose the election, in what ways will you continue your involvement in the SGA?

4. The SGA's structure has not changed greatly over the past few years. Does it need to change now, if so in what way?

many hours serving on various committees and acquainting myself with the internal and external workings of the S.G.A.

3. If I lose the election for Vice-President I definitely intend to offer the new executive and council my services in any way in which they would be required.

4. The structure of the S.G.A. is definitely due for a change. I'm not advocating drastic change, however there are a few areas where change is needed.

The ambiguities of the present constitution must be rectified in order to make the constitution more workable.

Better administration and closer checks on the use of the fees paid to the S.G.A. by the students is necessary.

I feel the student body at large should have the budget and bi-monthly balance sheets made available to them by having them printed in Lambda. This year the

S.G.A. received $47,500 of the students money and the students are entitled to know how their fees are being spent.

5. There is always room for the S.G.A. to expand student services, after all the primary function of the S.G.A. is to fulfill student need. It's unfortunate that the majority of students at large don't realize that there are a great number of non visible services which are performed for their benefit by the S.G.A.

If elected I intend to create a standing committee to look into the creation of more student services. This committee should be made up of 50% of the S.G.A. council members and 50% from the student body at large. All the committees' recommendations should be reported to council.

6. I feel Lambda at present is a viable student newspaper and I support the continuance of the paper.

WHAT ROLE SHOULD THE SGA PLAY IN THE EDUCATIONAL ASPECTS OF STUDENT LIFE AT LAURENTIAN?

Vivian Easton

For the last three to four years the SGA has been geared in the opposite position to that of the students. Laurentian is first and foremost an academic institution, not a corporation whose soul function is exploitation and profit. Unfortunately, it has been operated as a corporation by the administration and student government.

We, as students, can do little about the philosophy of administrators, however, we can do something about student government. We can act on behalf of the students, before the administration as well as on provincial and federal levels. The means are there for the using. If we want a satisfactory education, we have to demonstrate our interest by participating in the policies of this university. The SGA is obligated to represent us, not only socially, but academically. They have, in the past, failed miserably, to fulfill their commitment. Taken interest has been the sum total of their efforts.

The SGA has to play an intricate role in the educational aspects of student life. The SGA originally initiated changes in the academic environment by virtue of this act, are responsible in the years to come to ensure student rights and academic standards.

Richard Hoffman

It is necessary that the SGA play a role in the educational aspects of student life. The basic course of action should be the welfare of the members of the student body. This role should be fulfilled by student representation on the departmental level, student senators, Council and the President of the SGA.

Some educational aspects of student life are: problems with faculty; problems with administration; suggestions about courses and evaluations of professors N.P. I would like to see better communication between these student reps and the SGA council. This can be done by what are presently known as the Committees on Academic Affairs and Educational Resources. This should be a two-way communication flow, with the council becoming involved on the Departmental level by such means as sitting in on a specific class if there is a problem. The president, as a non-voting member of Senate can raise pertinent issues.

There should be better communication between both the students and the Council. This could be done through a representative committee. Ultimately, this can only lead to a stronger student voice.

Mike McWade: The S.G.A. must be an educator in its own right. It must inform LU students of what is happening academically on this campus. One solution to this is the Course and Professor Evaluation Form - where students tell the SGA and the university whether they are getting what they pay for. Currently, the Senate performs these Course and Professor Evaluations. This Course Evaluation idea originated a few years ago with the SGA - however, the university stole this initiative from the students by publishing its own Evaluation, and this Senate controlled Evaluation omits certain key questions concerning professor aptitude and suitability of the courses taken. We must operate Course and Professor Evaluations ourselves and publicize the results to current and possible students.

The SGA must stay involved in departmental and Senate work through its Student Representatives.

The "BELL CURVE" is being reapplied this 1974-75 academic year at LU without general knowledge of our students. The Bell Curve means a fixed percentage of students per course are FAILED so that "control" can be maintained in the number of students graduating from a course. This arrangement is not publicly ac-knowledgeable but exists for the benefit of industry receiving graduates. Policies such as this are an insult to our students and the public at large. Most students don't even know that this Bell Curve is in effect. The duty of the SGA is to inform students on happenings like this.

Richard Wilson

Perhaps my opinions are best expressed in a draft for a new constitution which I prepared and submitted to the constitution committee of the SGA, in January. The first section, under Responsibilities of the SGA read that the SGA should:

"1) ensure, facilitate and direct participation by the members of the SGALU in the governing process, planning and growth of Laurentian University."

This implies for example, that it would be part of the responsibilities of the SGA to ensure that there are student representatives on departmental councils and to ensure that the procedures under which these people are elected are fair, equitable and consistent. It would also imply that it is up to the SGA to supply the communication network between the student representatives at various levels, so that the students on Senate know how the students in a particular department feel when an item concerning them is before Senate. It is also up to the SGA to provide the logistical support and research facilities for all such student representatives.

Not all of the research work need be done by the SGA itself. OFS has full-time researchers and considerable data on file. For example, the information on student representation on Senate across the province came from O.F.S. Students whose courses require market surveys, opinion surveys or other type of research could direct their attention to problems of interest to other students. The primary task of the SGA will be connecting people with problems to the resources necessary to solve those problems.

Richard Wilson

I have been working for the students of Laurentian University for the past three years, on Senate, on Senate Committees and in the SGA. This is my final year in an Honours BA program. If I lose the election, I shall be leaving Laurentian. The only thing more I can contribute is a report for what methods that have worked and what actions have been taken.

Richard Wilson:

Lambda is an organization suffering, as are many other organizations on campus, from a lack of people willing to do more than complain. The paper is acutely short of staff and its problems can only be cured by an epidemic of enthusiasm on campus.

As to the relationship between Lambda and the SGA, the SGA should have no power to interfere in the editorial policies of the paper. However, it is important that the paper and the SGA be able to co-operate together to promote the interests of the students of Laurentian. If they feel that the SGA is not doing its job, it is their right and responsibility to criticize. However, they should be willing to allow the SGA space in which to voice a rebuttal.

Financially, the paper should

I can safely say that deficit never dulled my interest in student politics. I lost last year, remember?

Richard Hoffman:

Should I lose the election, I intend to involve myself in student representation within the political science department and be as independent of the SGA as possible. The grant to the paper should be set at some regular rate and its distribution to the paper made conditional only on the maintenance of a satisfactory set of records and the presentation of a year end financial report. The alternative to this is for the paper to levy its own fee, directly.

Vivian Easton

Lambda has been a viable part of student life on this campus. Whether or not the contents receive approval is not important. What is important is its continual existence.

Through such articles as editorials, and letters to the editors, student representatives can discover just what is of concern to those they represent. The paper also acts as an informer of coun-

Mike McWade: I hope to graduate this year. I intend to remain on campus for the summer whether or not I win this election. In the event that I lose the election, I shall still be around to lend a hand to the SGA operations during the summer months.

Richard Hoffman

Lambda is a necessary service.

Mike McWade: I view Lambda as a necessary function in our student community; a prime source of communication to LU students.

I propose that Lambda reorganizes its structure to allow for a near full-time editor on a part-time basis with an increase in the present salary.

With an expansion of advertising revenue and an inflationary increase in operation fees from the SGA, Lambda should be able to operate functionally and effectively in the next academic year.

THE SGA'S STRUCTURE HAS OVER THE PAST FEW YEARS CHANGE NOW? IF SO, IN

Richard Wilson

The SGA presently lacks structure. While it has a President, a Vice-President and a Council, their duties, powers, and responsibilities are not well defined. Each year the executive interprets them in a different way. The constitution should set out the areas that are the responsibility of the SGA and then assign each one of them to a specific person to carry out. An organization without such clear designations of responsibility and authority cannot function efficiently. The constitution which I helped to draft had elected officers charged with the co-ordination of SGA activities in each of the major policy areas: internal affairs (i.e. co-ordination of clubs, councils, societies, etc., social events) academic affairs (Senate, Senate committees, Board of Governors, Department & Divisional Councils), and external affairs (Ontario Federation of Students, National Union of Students, campaigns about OSAP, Canada Student Loan Prog., University financing, etc...)

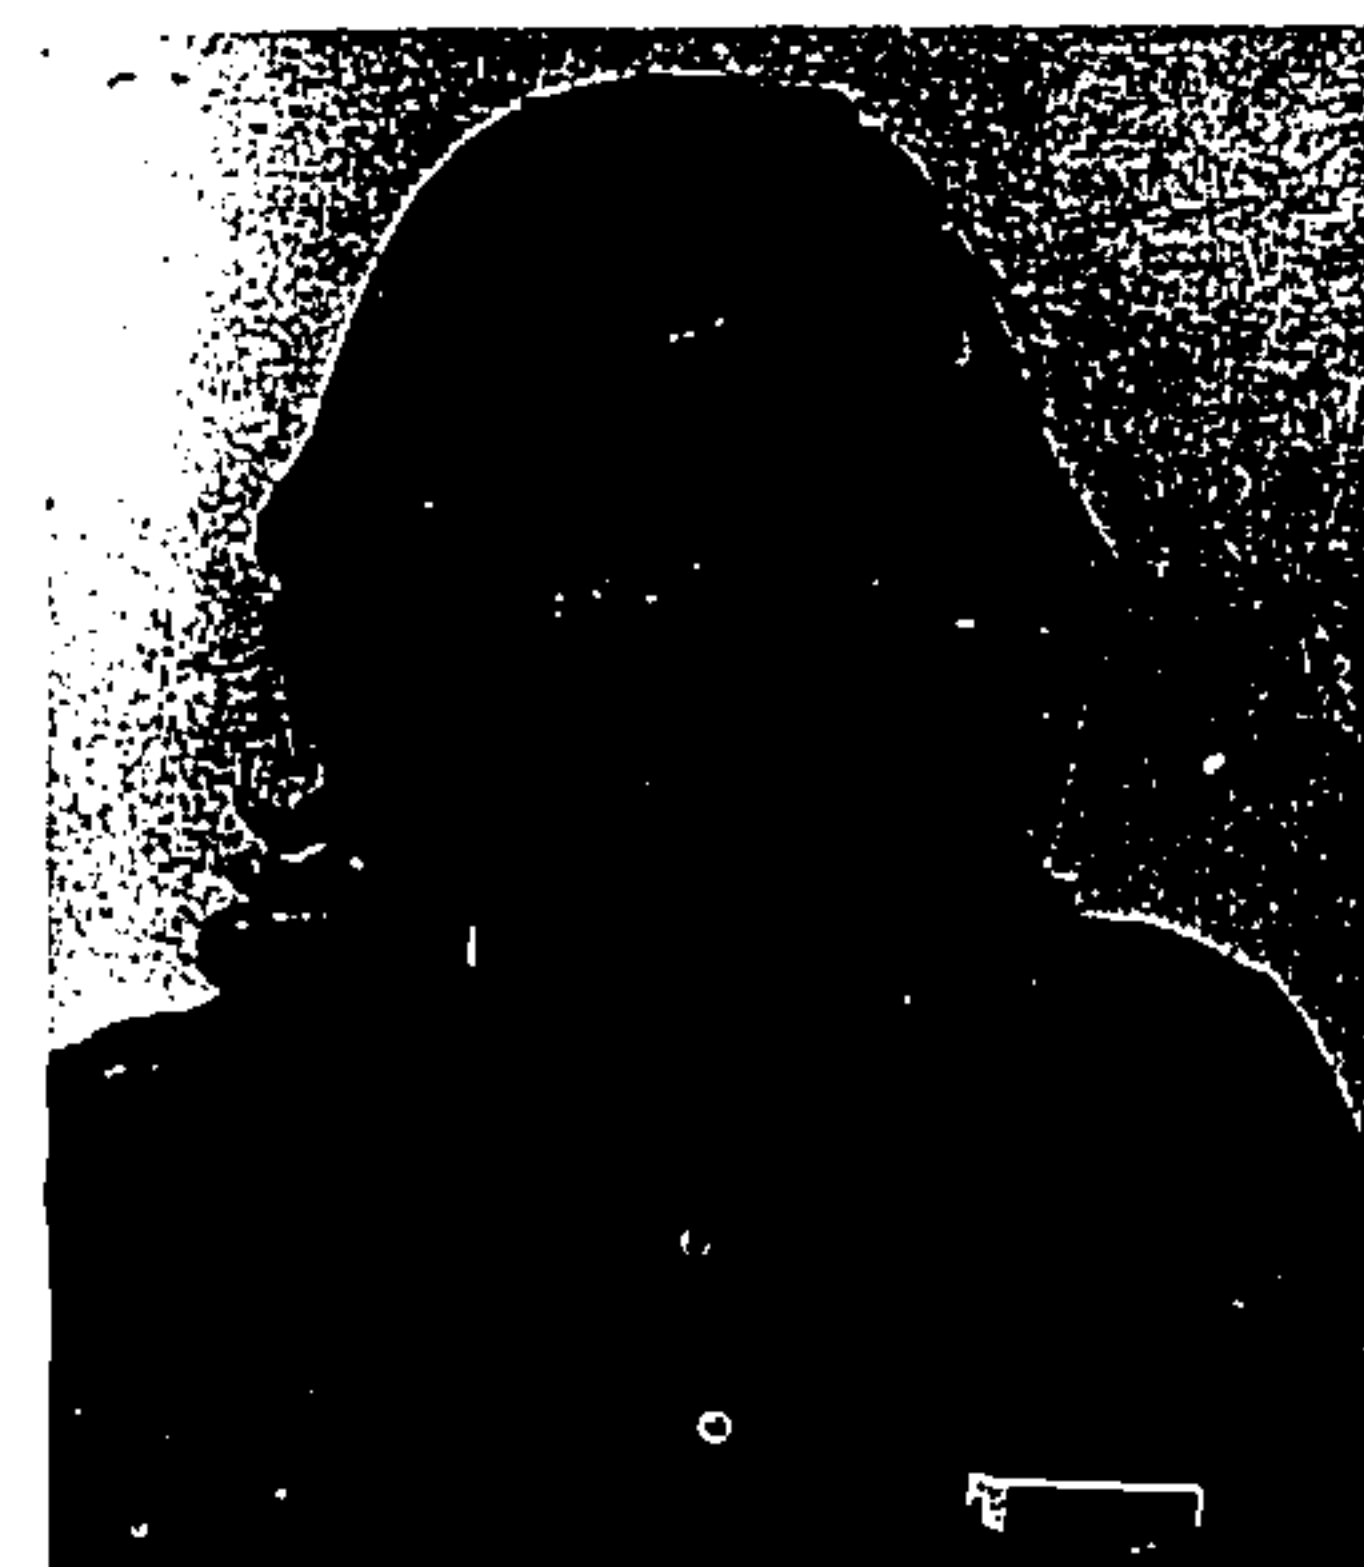

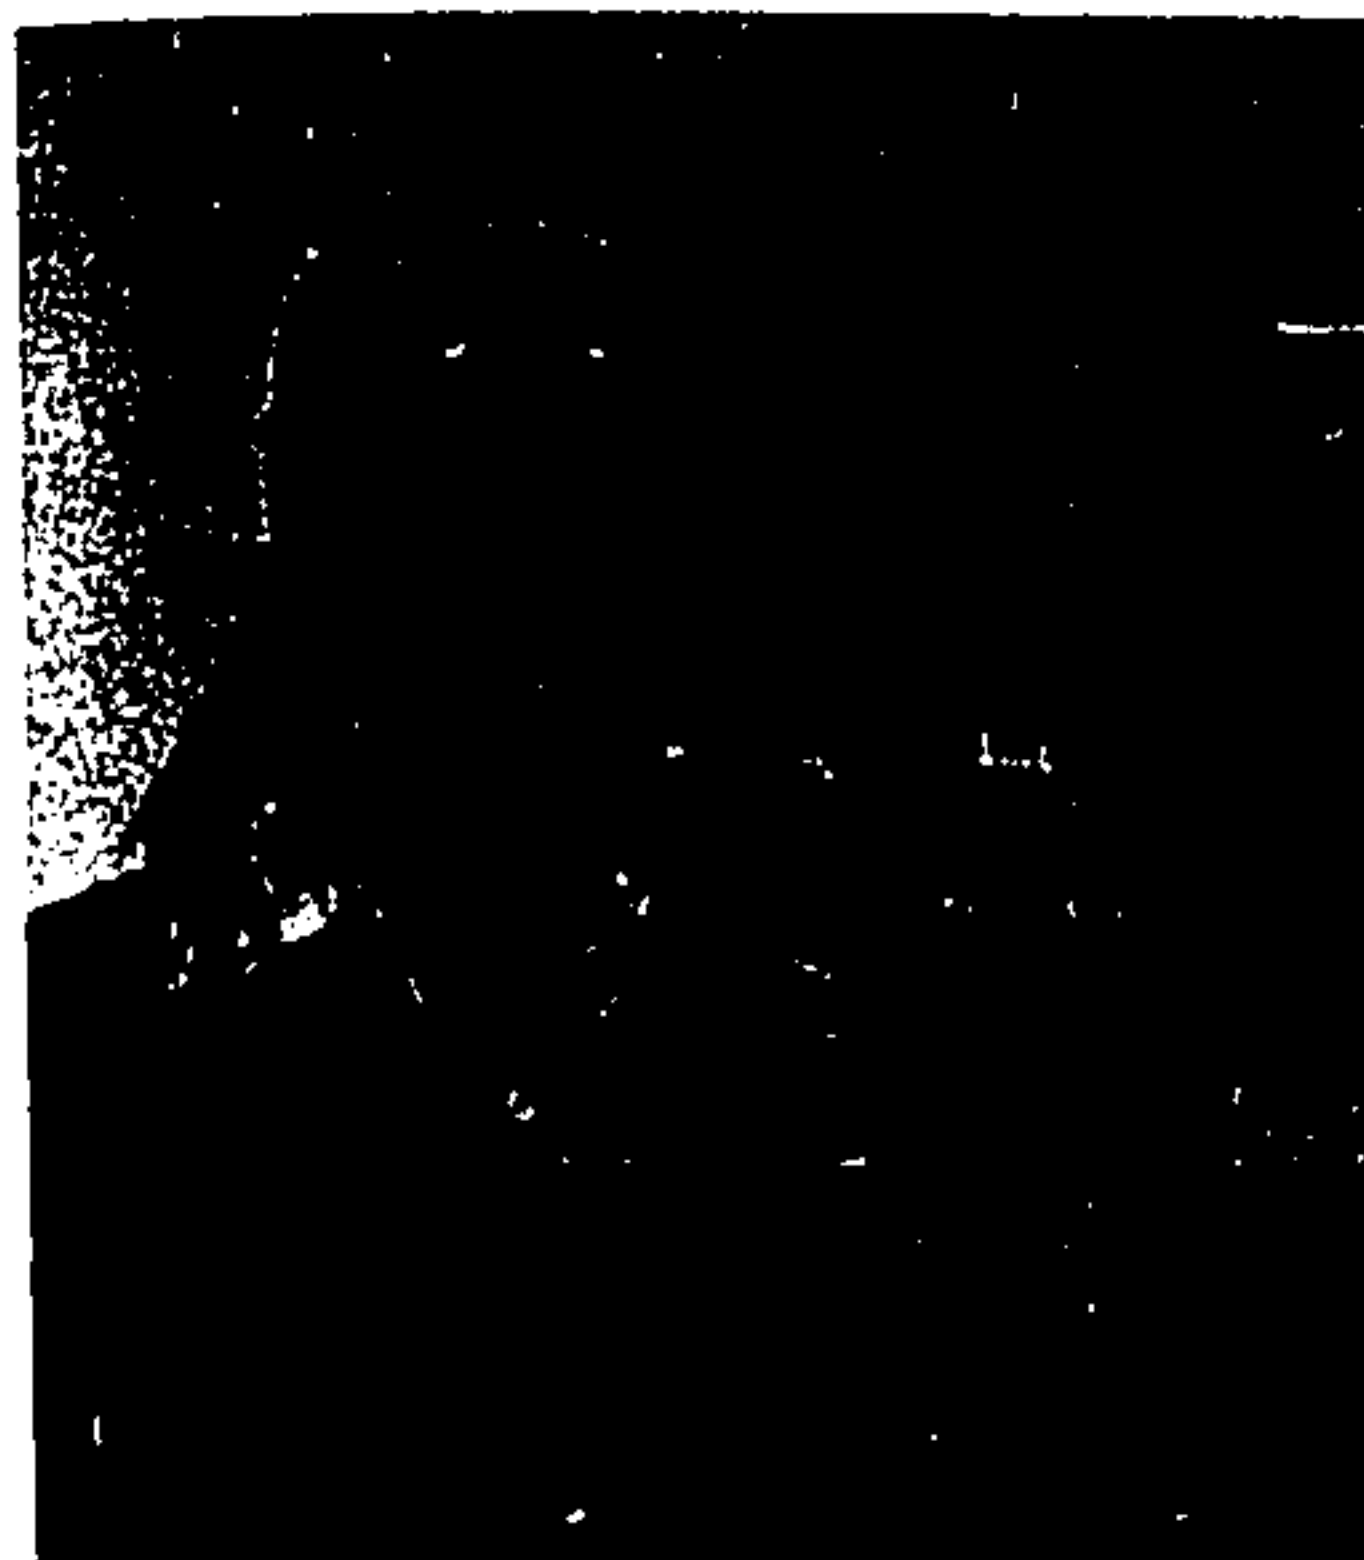

As well as clear definition of the responsibilities of the SGA and the executive officers there is a lack of involvement of the members of council in the decisions and actions of the SGA. One method to give the council members more input would be to revive the standing committees of council. The difficulty is finding enough people willing to do the work.

There is also a problem of lack of continuity in the SGA. Each year, a totally new group of people come in convinced that all that has gone before them is garbage. They profit not at all from the successes and failures of those who have preceded them, and as they have not learned from the experiences of those who went before, they are doomed to repeat their mistakes. It should be the duty of the officers of the SGA to keep records of what actions they have taken during the year and what were the results of these actions. These could be used to make a year end report to council and to make a manual of the duties and responsibilities of the individual officers. Students two

You will have an opportunity to vote for the above people at the election. Be sure to go out and vote for who will be running. So make sure your voice is heard. Vivian Easton

Your fourth question relating to the structures within the SGA and whether they need changing or not can be answered by reflecting back on the incident of March 3 of this year. As aptly stated in your last issue (Vol. 13, No. 22) by reporter Wally Ross, the actions of the executive were unconstitutional. If the S.G.A.'s constitution contains vague generalities, then it is time for revisions which define more concisely the behaviour of council.

There have out this year's council, now can you expect to work for you? And into your student go to waste!

Richard Hoffman

The accomplishments of the SGA over past years and recent events within the structure of the SGA proves that there is a need for change. There are three aspects involved, the constitution, the structure of the SGA body, and the apathy of its members.

The constitution definitely has to be amended, due to flagrant contradictions between it and its supposed by-laws. Specifically, the question involving the speaker of the SGA meeting concerning the "Mileto-affair", is a prime example.

There is a case for changing the structure of the SGA. The structure of the SGA, presently, tends to polarize the council into voting blocs, therefore making it ineffective. A committee should be formed to investigate and rectify the situation. On the other hand, an examination of the SGA structure would indicate that a certain amount of apathy and petty differences would prove to be the root of the problem.

Mike McWade: The basic structural change that I view as necessary is the addition of a second Vice-President to the SGA to share in the added functions and the day to day duties that the SGA has failed to perform in the past.

I have never held a position on the SGA Council or other student organizations. As a political science major I have a knowledge of organizations, their workings, and lines of communication both externally and internally. As of late, I have taken a sabbatical from my academic endeavours. I have met and communicated with peoples of various cultures. Having been a member of the community of Sudbury for the past eleven years, I am aware of the channels one must go through to get things done.

Knowledge of student government and university hierarchy has been gained through personal affiliations. Finally, with my experience in conducting successful social events, I feel my support to our social convenors would prove to be a valuable asset to the student's council.

Richard Hoffman

When this question was asked, I was astounded! Continue to create student services? What student services? I do not consider one Lambda a week a service worthy of $27.00. There is a definite need for the creation of student services.

Due to the increase in expense for the student next year, I will implement a bus service to and from Plaza 69 twice a week for shopping purposes. This will provide a needed service for those students living on campus.

I will establish student lounges in both the Arts and Sciences buildings. The reasons for this, I feel, are quite obvious.

In the past year, $161.00 was granted by the SGA to student organizations. I propose to increase this grant to clubs, organizations, and societies; such as the "BLUE AND GOLD". This would provide a direct means for the student to make use of his/her service fee and may induce student participation.

I consider social events to be an important and necessary function of student life. It is yet another direct means by which a student can enjoy and make use of his $27.00 service fee. Better co-ordination and promotion of

Richard Wilson

I have been actively involved in furthering the interests of the students of Laurentian University for the last three years. I have served as student representative on the Senate Budget Committee for 3 years, on the Academic Planning Committee for 2 years and recently on the Ad Hoc Committee on Residence Fees. Last November, I was elected to the post, vacated by the death of Mr. Bruce Bothwell, of Vice-President of the SGA.

My participation in these areas has not been without effect. As a result of my protests in the Budget Committee and in Senate, the University has agreed to negotiate the salaries of part-time student employees and marking assistants. (Their wages had fallen during the last few years of budget stringency to the provincial minimum wage.) A proposal to eliminate Psychological Counselling Services was dropped. I did much of the work in drafting the budget of the SGA. The constitution which I drafted was presented, with a few alterations, by the SGA Constitution Committee to Council. I worked with the students fighting the increase in residence fees and was their spokesman on Senate. The motion, which I moved, that there be no increase in residence fees failed by a very slim margin and Senate passed a motion calling for no more than an 8% increase in fees. The fight against the fees increase is still continuing. Another battle will soon be joined over the number of students on senate.

As well as being involved on campus, I have represented the students of Laurentian in the community at large. I have expressed the problems and interests of the students of Laurentian in such diverse forums as local radio programs, local television programs, meetings of OFS, conferences of Ontario Students, and meetings with provincial politicians such as Donald Deacon, deputy leader of the Liberal party, and Dr. Parr, Deputy Minister of Colleges and Universities.

SHOULD THE SGA CONTINUE TO CREATE MORE STUDENT SERVICES? IF SO, WHAT SERVICES AND WHY? IF NOT, WHY NOT?

social events can put more money into the coffers of the students. In this way we can ensure that service fees will not increase due to inflation as was the case with the rent increases on campus.

Mike McWade: YES, there should be more Student Services offered and implemented by the SGA.

1) Trouble Shooter Centre: SGA would act as a clearing house for all types of student problems from simple requests for information to requests for interpretation of university regulations. The SGA will provide the solutions or refer students to the people best qualified to do so.

2) Off-Campus Housing Service: To simply offer an off-campus housing service to all students seeking off-campus accommodation.

3) Form a mini-library consisting of a complete set of Canadian University Calendars to allow students a place to research and discuss the views of other students. Re: Canadian Post secondary institutions.

Vivian Easton

Outside of a few dances, concerts, films, and the gamesroom, there is a lack of student services.

As to other qualifications not directly related to the SGA, I am a fourth year student in Economics and my primary interest is in Public Finance and the allocation of resources in the public sector of the economy. I have worked for two summers as assistant manager in a hardware store in Manlyoulin Island.

Vivian Easton

Since first enrolling at Laurentian, I have tried to fathom the reason why such organizations as the SGA and Lambda prevail. What are their objectives and motives? The way to answer these questions was through participation which provided valuable experience.

Some of this experience came through Lambda where I learned that the student staff writers do have influence on their environment. The position of co-editor presented the opportunity of meeting various members of this institution to discuss student affairs. As a member of the Advisory Planning and Building committee I have had further opportunities in learning how the policies and decisions are instituted in the university.

In the fall of '74 I was appointed UC rep. to the SGA Council. From the time of taking office, I attended every council meeting, much to the disappointment of other members. The four UC reps acted as a unit and in conjunction with our residence council. We can not help the fact that we were committed to serve our constituents to the best of our abilities.

Through these channels and five years of participation, I have seen how the student body is neglected. I have seen the myth of a $6,500 salary perpetrated. The expenditure of $19,000 in salaries for a student body of our size is unjustified and above that spent by other universities larger than ours. Prior to the induction of the $6,000 salary, former LU student presidents were paid 1/6 (one-sixth) of that. It can be done again.

Because of the absence of communication between the Student government and the students, little interest has been shown in regards to student services. This area is in need of examining. If there is need for expansion of services, then it must be instituted but only after some assessment has been done so as to create the services most desired by students.

Richard Wilson

The SGA has a responsibility to build and maintain a warm and friendly social atmosphere on campus. To do this, it must offer a variety and mix of social services which change as the needs of Laurentian students change. Many of the services that the SGA gets involved are in the way of demonstration projects. For example, the course evaluation questionnaire was originally an SGA project that was adopted by the university. As the Postal Desk is closing next year, it may be necessary for the SGA to obtain a postal substation in either the office or the games room to provide this service. However, such services are created in response to student needs and will be offered if and when the needs arise.

TA and the games people play

Eileen Boyle

Have you ever said something and wondered why you said it? Or have you ever had the experience of trying to explain your feelings to someone, only to end up feeling confused and frustrated? If the answer is yes, it is possible to understand yourself and others better, and also to learn to say what you want to.

One way to achieve better communication skills is through Transactional Analysis, known as T.A. Although it may sound complicated, the theory behind it is really quite simple. The Counselling Services here at Laurentian offer eight-hour group sessions in TA to give people an understanding of TA and how to use it in their lives.

In participating in a TA session a person learns how to communicate better and becomes aware of social games he plays consciously or unconsciously. TA also teaches individual how to listen better, by not only listening to the words people say but by noticing how they say them. Often what a person says can be undermined by how he says it.

In communicating verbally people give off signals known as body language which affects how the other person responds. An example given in TA to explain this is the following: If someone says to you, "Of course I want you to join me", but he is frowning and standing with his arms folded tightly across his chest, the message you receive is that he doesn't really want you to join him. He just won't admit it.

Situations like this occur everyday. Actually what we are doing when we say something we don't mean is playing a social game. Sometimes we are aware of the social games we play, many of them being forced on us by society and the roles it casts on us. We relate to each other not as individuals but in roles such as student, teacher, mother, child, friend and next-door neighbour. All of these roles place borders on us and we fear to go beyond these borders, we don't want to step out of line in case we are misunderstood, or rejected.

Roles result in various relationships - some formal and others spontaneous. Each of these relationships has its own type of 'language'. One of the things TA does is to help us analyze this language by looking at different examples of it. TA tries to help us progress from ritual and surface conversations, the "Hi - How are you? - Goodbye" type, to the "I need you" type found in intimate relationships which require total honesty and openness with another person. Some people never experience an intimate relationship with another person. Instead they play social games because they fear intimacy which involves being vulnerable.

TA leaves each individual with different feelings. What it gave me was a deeper awareness of the social games I play with myself and others. I also realized what I say is not always what I want to say and now I listen better to what people say.

Anyone interested in participating in a TA session should contact Michel at the Counselling Services on the 2nd floor of the Library tower.

MURDER ON THE ORIENT EXPRESS

Hank McEachren

If you like intrigue and a good mystery this film is for you. The film takes place on the famed Calais Coach which is in turn part of the famed Orient Express. The topic is murder and the Hero is a man by the name of Hercule Poirot.

The film leads the viewer down the long and complicated path of probably one of the worlds best known who-done its.

The acting is superb and in each character one can see all the characteristics of the people involved just as Christie would have wanted them to be seen. If you figure you're better than Poirot then go and see the movie for at the climax you have about a half an hour to change your mind repeatedly about who the murderer is and then at the end kick yourself for the only obvious answer which is supplied by Poirot. The movie has to be without a doubt one of the best who-done its I have seen in a long time.

you'll be needed

when you're a professional RIA Management Accountant.

There is a growing demand for men and women with the professional skills and insights of the RIA Management Accountant. And no wonder. Decisions are more crucial than ever in today's economy. Top management in business and government needs all the help it can get. RIA's are uniquely qualified to play a part.

Why?

Because our study program goes beyond a thorough study of accounting, computers and data processing. It also includes such fields as report writing, organizational behaviour and management processes. So you will be that rarest of all people: a specialist with a broad point of view. Because you study while working, your career will move ahead faster from the very start of your RIA program. Even if you have not graduated, your post secondary studies will probably earn course exemptions to shorten your RIA program. Mail this coupon today for more information.

A motion picture concept of how Los Angeles will look if it is hit by a massive temblor over 9.9 on the Richter scale in Universal's "Earthquake," which introduces SENSURROUND, the new sound-and-sense system that gives audiences the sensation of being in the epicenter of a massive temblor. The Mark Robson-Filmakers Group production, written as a screenplay by George Fox and Mario Puzo, was produced and directed by Mark Robson in Technicolor and Panavision, with Jennings Lang as the executive producer of the large-scale drama.

EARTHQUAKE

A hell of a good show

J. Paul Dugal

Friday saw the opening of the latest of the special effect movies with Universal's "Earthquake", opening at the Odeon. The movie deals with the result of an earthquake of 9.9 on the richter scale upon earthquake sensitive Los Angeles.

The movie itself is supported by a very believable story line and an all star cast including Charlton Heston, Ava Gardner, George Kennedy, Lorne Greene, and Genevieve Bufo. And with the exciting new dimensions of sensurround. Sensurround is a series of huge speakers placed at strategic positions throughout the theatre. These speakers are set at a very low base and when activated, cause sufficient air displacement to make it appear that the theatre is actually shaking. This enables one to not only see the Earthquake, but feel it as well as its aftershocks.

If the overflow crowds on the first two days are any indication of its popularity, "Earthquake" will be a tremendous success, and it's little wonder. When one looks at the immensity of the undertaking which includes massive destruction, fire, flood, murder and a believable secondary plot involving Charlton Heston and Genevieve Bufo and the amazing new Sensurround, "Earthquake" is definitely a movie to see.

MARSEILLES (ZNS-CUP) -- Police here raided a brothel for senior citizens arresting two prostitutes and eight of their clients.

The arrested clients ranged in age from 60 to 77 years. The two prostitutes were in their fifties.

French police say that the senior citizens paid only $10 for the bordello's hospitalities, but noted that the old age pension in France is a trifling $4 a day.

YOU DON'T HAVE TO MAKE A CAREER OUT OF A SUMMER JOB.

Once upon a time there was a student who selected herself out of a summer job (Oh no, we're not just picking on girls. We've seen guys do it, too). She wanted to be an architect, this kid. So she held out for a job that had something to do with architecture. None came along that year, and by the time she decided to settle for something else, it was too late. All the jobs were gone. So was her first year's tuition.

Moral: Don't hold out for the impossible dream.

Who knows Your Canada Manpower Centre might introduce you to a whole new field. Maybe you'll like your summer job so much you'll want to make a career out of it someday.

HAVE A YOUNG SUMMER.

JUTEBOX APPREHENDED

Late last Saturday night, the jutebox which is normally outside the Hitching Post in Student Street mysteriously disappeared. It was found the next morning two flights up wandering about the corridor in J-section of Single Students Residence where it was apprehended by the don. It is suspected, according to reliable sources, that the jutebox was out on another of its Saturday night binges. This is the first time, however, that it wandered so far away from home and actually climbed stairs.

Sex Effects Weather

SAN FRANCISCO (ENS-CUP) - A meteorologist here reported last week that he's found a correlation between the rate of human sexual activity and the weather. Gordon Barnes says a two-year study of sexual behaviour conducted at a northeastern university revealed the surprising fact that December and January are the sexiest months of the year -- based on the rate of sexual activity. The researchers concluded that the explanation probably had something to do with long, cold winter nights.

But there's another explanation, says Barnes. He found that whenever the rate of sexual activity went up, the barometer went down. In other words, barometric readings of 29.90 or below seemed to correspond with reports of increased bedroom activity.

Barnes says the explanation may lie in the fact that low barometer readings indicate storm centres and reduced atmospheric pressure. High readings, on the other hand, indicate dense air that could tighten the muscles and result in tension and anxiety.

elections Voyageur Club

Bernard Freelandt

The Laurentian Voyageur Club will be holding its General meeting on Thursday, March 20 at 3:30 in room F212 next to the Science Cafeteria. During the meeting, next year's executive will be nominated and elected. All members are urged to come and participate.

Spring and summer canoe and hiking trips will also be discussed and any new members with ideas and interest are welcome to attend.

Bio Society

Reiner Jakubowski

The academic year is fast drawing to a close. This means that a new executive for the Bio. Soc. will have to be elected. This election will take place on Tuesday, March 25 in Room S418. This meeting will also be concerned with enacting a proposed constitutional change. The time of the meeting as well as further information with regard to the elections and constitutional change will be posted on the Society bulletin board on the fourth floor of Science 1.

A quick recap of the past year shows one of many achievements. Hardly a day passes without the appearance of the Big Snail. Dave gets most of the credit for this. Frank and Brian threw together a number of slide shows which were well received by those in attendance. Many interesting places were visited through this medium. Several people were seen to stumble in on Monday mornings as a result of the weekend activities of various sorts. Mike E. did another decent job on Open House this year. He of course received help from many people. The society as a whole did a first rate job on the snow sculpture. We won first prize for our efforts but I was disappointed in the S.G.A. which succeeded in muffing even this simplest of events. As I recall there is a trophy that goes to the winners of the sculpture. This trophy was not presented to the Society this year. Perhaps this omission can be explained by us. Tony S. conjured up a couple of parties in a rustic setting that the tourists seem to go for. These parties were great fun even for those who have to be told what happened. Mike and Carole got life without parole, Chris did the art work and I bought the garbage can. That about says it all.

A last note about the meeting, quorum for an election is 50% plus 1 of the membership. For constitutional changes it is two thirds of the membership. Therefore, make every effort to attend.

Fifty bikes to be won.

(Ten a month from Feb.1 to June 30.)

There's no better time to get onto Honda than right now.

Because you could win* the bike you buy.

Fifty bikes will be won by lucky buyers from participating Honda dealers in Ontario, Quebec, and the Atlantic Provinces only.

The contest will run from February 1 to June 30, 1975.

There will be ten bikes won each month, so the earlier you enter, the more chances you have to win.

Your participating Honda dealer has complete details. And there's no better time to see him about that new bike than right now.

*Provided participants comply with contest rules and selected entrants correctly answer a time-limited skill-testing question.

Women Veers Win National Championship

NATIONAL CHAMPIONS

by Wally Ross

Being snowed in and enduring a 12 hour train ride to Montreal, didn't bother the Laurentian Women's Basketball team, as they returned home from New Brunswick, National Champions.

The Veers defeated the University of British Columbia (UBC) 59-49, to win the title. Laurentian pressed hard, right from the start, and within the first 15 minutes of the game they had established a comfortable lead of 14-

2. UBC cut it down to 5 points, at the half, but were unable to gain the lead at any time during the contest.

Turnovers did not play a significant part in determining the outcome, but foul shots did. The Veers chalked up seventeen (17) points on fouls, compared to UBC's 1.

Asked what factors contributed to the success of the team this year, Anne Hurley and Sheila Strike agreed that the skilled coaching of Norm Vickery was the key.

"He's a super coach! Norm's just done wonders since he's come here."

"Competition outside of our league has also helped", as the Veers were able to develop their skills, playing higher calibre squads.

Strike and Hurley also stated that the hard work of two hour practices every day and a regular weight-training programme were essential.

"Women are getting more serious about it. They realize that there's more to it than just going out and playing one or two games a week."

Four of the present members will not return next year and there's a possibility of losing more. The women feel confident that they will still have a good base to work from, as rookies become veterans and experience develops into confidence.
